DEMAND FOR SCHMITZ CARGOBULL QUALITY PROMPTS DEANS TRANSPORT TO TAKE ON MORE TRAILERS

Customer requests for Schmitz Cargobull equipment have prompted rental business Deans Transport to take on another two of the manufacturer's trailers.

Schmitz Cargobull trailers already make up more than half of Deans Transport's 130-strong fleet, and the new additions are likely to be in operation for around seven years.

Mark Dean, Owner of Deans Transport, says: "Customers actively ask for Schmitz Cargobull trailers because they are robust and easy to maintain. They often comment on the quality build and the extras including rear buffers and the tough insulation panels.

"We get the added bonus of a higher resale value when we come to sell them on, and the service I receive from the team is always very efficient. The trailers arrive on time, and any spare parts we need are delivered quickly ensuring the trailers stay on the road."

Deans Transport's customers have also reported that their fuel consumption for the fridge unit has dropped thanks to the effectiveness of Schmitz Cargobull's insulation panels.

Built at Schmitz Cargobull's state-of-the-art production facility in Vreden, Germany, each trailer comes with a 10-year warranty against rust breakthrough and a five-year structural warranty to give the customer added peace of mind.
